Item 8.01 Other Events

California Public Utilities Commission's ("CPUC") Pending Investigations

On July 16, 2013, the CPUC's Safety and Enforcement Division ("SED") (formerly called the Consumer Protection and Safety Division or "CPSD") filed an amended brief to revise its previous recommendation on the penalties and other remedies that should be imposed on Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("Utility") in three investigative enforcement proceedings of the Utility's natural gas operations. The CPUC's investigations relate to (1) the Utility's safety recordkeeping for its natural gas transmission system (the "Records" investigation), (2) the Utility's operation of its natural gas transmission pipeline system in or near locations of higher population density (the "Class Location" investigation), and (3) the Utility's pipeline installation, integrity management, recordkeeping and other operational practices, and other events or courses of conduct, that could have led to or contributed to the rupture of a transmission pipeline owned and operated by the Utility in San Bruno, California on September 9, 2010 (the "San Bruno accident" investigation).

The SED recommends that the CPUC impose what the SED characterizes as a penalty of $2.25 billion on the Utility, allocated as follows: (1) $300 million as a fine to the State General Fund, (2) $435 million for a portion of amounts that were disallowed in the Pipeline Safety Enhancement Plan ("PSEP") and funded by shareholders, and (3) $1.515 billion to perform work that was previously approved in the PSEP, to implement the SED's recommended operational remedies, and for future PSEP costs.

Based on the SED's revised recommendation, the Utility estimates that total past and future shareholder costs for natural gas transmission operations and related fines would be in excess of $4 billion.

The Utility's response to the SED's amended brief is due on July 25, 2013. The SED and the intervening parties, including the City of San Bruno, the City and County of San Francisco, and The Utility Reform Network, may file rebuttal briefs no later than August 1, 2013. PG&E Corporation and the Utility anticipate that after the additional briefs have been filed, the CPUC administrative law judges who are presiding over the investigations will issue one or more presiding officer's decisions to address violations that they have determined the Utility committed and to impose penalties. Based on the CPUC's rules, the presiding officer's decisions would become the final decisions of the CPUC 30 days after issuance unless the Utility or another party filed an appeal with the CPUC, or a CPUC commissioner requested that the CPUC review the decision, within such time. If an appeal or review request were filed, other parties would have 15 days to provide comments but the CPUC could act before considering any comments.
