ITEM 1.01

ENTRY INTO A MATERIAL DEFINITIVE AGREEMENT

On January 25, 2007, we received a four-vehicle letter contract from the U.S. Marine Corps for testing, production and sustainability for its Mine Resistant Ambush Protected (MRAP) vehicle program. The work under this contract will be performed by Force Dynamics, LLC, our joint venture with General Dynamics Land Systems, Inc.

We believe the award of this contract improves the likelihood we will receive a significant follow on delivery order for our Cougar vehicles under Category Two of the MRAP program, since we are the only contractor among those selected that has an existing production line for vehicles with a demonstrated record of performance in combat conditions. We are thus already positioned ahead of the other potential contractors in the critical areas of availability and survivability.

The foregoing description of the terms and conditions of the letter contract is qualified in its entirety by, and made subject to, the more complete information set forth in the letter contract filed as exhibit 10.1, incorporated herewith.

This report contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. We generally use words such as believe, may, could, will, intend, expect, anticipate, plan, and similar expressions to identify forward-looking statements. You should not place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements. Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in the forward-looking statements for many reasons, including the risks described in our Form 10-K and other reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Although we believe the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, they relate only to events as of the date on which the statements are made, and our future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements may not meet these expectations. We do not intend to update any of the forward-looking statements after the date of this document to conform these statements to actual results or to changes in our expectations, except as required by law.
