Item 8.01

Other Events

On October 1, 2012, the Company held a shareholder meeting to provide shareholders an opportunity to sit down and ask questions to the Company's officers and directors. The Company's officers and directors reviewed and showed documents to shareholders that were previously disclosed in the company's filings. The Company has attached those documents to this 8-K so all shareholders have the chance to review them.

Exhibit 99.1: includes the claiming documents for Graystone 2 and Graystone 3. Gorila was purchase from a private party and therefore not claimed through the Peruvian government. The claims are in the name of Grupo Mineral Inca SAC which is a wholly owned company of The Graystone Company.

Exhibit 99.2: the official map that reflects the location of Gorila and Graystone 2. Gorilla is reflected by box #14 and Graystone 2 is reflected by box #15

Exhibit 99.3: a company satellite map of the claims Gorila and Graystone 2

Exhibit 99.4: Bulk sampling results from Gorilla. The document reflects the Company's test which also shows the math that Company used to estimate the amount of gold to determine if the project was worthwhile to continue funding.

The Company also explained, as previously disclosed, that it is planning on initially beginning mining operations on Gorila and then moving to Graystone 2. While the Company is mining on Gorila and Graystone 2, we expect to conduct testing on Graystone 3. The Company also expects to claim additional property near Gorila as well.

The Company also told the shareholders that we expect to provide an update on mining operation on Gorila on October 8, 2012.
