PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K and 10-KSB, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q and 10-QSB, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

As a result of the recent issuance of accounting guidance regarding the treatment of derivative financial instruments, we have had to revise our financial statements. On February 10, 2005, we entered into a Registration Rights Agreement (the Agreement) with Barron Partners LP (Barron) in connection with the issuance of preferred stock and warrants, whereby we undertook to file a registration statement registering the sale of the shares of our common stock underlying the convertible preferred stock and warrants held by Barron. Currently, the failure to timely effect the registration statement triggers cash liquidated damages under the Agreement. According to recent accounting guidance, the existence of the cash liquidated damages provisions causes Barron's warrants to be treated as a liability on our books. In connection with the filing of our first quarter Form 10-QSB, we sought to resolve this issue, and prepared our financial statements to comport with the recently issued guidance. Simultaneously, we began and continue to pursue options available under the recent accounting guidance whereby we could amend our registration rights agreement, subject to the approval of Barron, to eliminate the liability treatment. This pursuit of alternatives has resulted in significant technical discussions with several accounting, regulatory and valuation experts. In the process, additional changes have been identified which we believe may be necessary to properly reflect the full impact of the transaction in accordance with accounting guidance. We are diligently working to be in a position to be able to file our Form 10-QSB as soon as practicable, but were not in a position to file on August 15, 2005.

- (2) Have all other periodic reports required under Section 13 or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or Section 30 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 during the preceding 12 months or for such shorter period that the registrant was required to file such report(s) been filed? If answer is no, identify report(s). Yes No

- (3) Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof? Yes No

If so, attach an explanation of the anticipated change, both narratively and quantitatively, and, if appropriate, state the reasons why a reasonable estimate of the results cannot be made.

Certain significant recapitalization transactions relating to the Company are described in its Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2004 and its Form 10-QSB for the quarter ended March 31, 2005.

Edgar Filing: COMPUTER SOFTWARE INNOVATIONS INC - Form NT 10-Q

We believe that we will report that our income from operations in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (which is reported before adjustments for the accounting impact of the preferred stock and warrants transaction referred to in Part III above) for the quarterly period ended June 30, 2005 is approximately $1.2 million, up approximately 15% over our restated income from operations for the quarter ended June 30, 2004. For the six month period ended June 30, 2005, we believe we will report income from operations of approximately $200,000 or approximately 86% less than our restated income from operations for the six month period ended June 30, 2004. The drop in income from operations is due primarily to the costs of the first quarter recapitalization transactions of $759,283 and compensation expense of $631,174 for the early redemption of options in connection with such transactions.

We anticipate the application of revised accounting treatment of the preferred stock issuance and warrants, which is the reason for the delay in the filing of the second quarter Form 10-QSB. We anticipate that this may result in a substantial non-cash decrease in our Net income attributable to common shareholders due to the possible recording of other income and expense and potential deemed dividends related to the issuance of the preferred stock for the quarter ended March 31, 2005 and the six month period ending June 30, 2005. We expect that the resulting reduction in retained earnings will be primarily offset by increases in additional paid in capital and our warrant related liability. We are in the process of calculating these amounts. These potential adjustments will not affect income from operations or cash flows.
