<Results of Operations>

During the nine months under review, net sales were ¥740.5 billion, an 11.6% increase from the corresponding period in the prior year.

In the domestic market, sales in Internal Combustion Engine and Machinery, Pipes, Valves, and Industrial Castings and Environmental Engineering increased. In Internal Combustion Engine and Machinery, sales of farm equipment and engines as well as construction machinery increased. Especially, sales of engines for manufacturers of construction and industrial machinery increased sharply. In Pipes, Valves, and Industrial Castings, sales of plastic pipes increased favorably due to the effect of business integration. In addition, sales of industrial castings increased largely from the corresponding period in the prior year due to brisk capital expenditures of the steel industries and the energy industries. In Environmental Engineering, sales of Water & Sewage Engineering division and Waste Engineering division expanded. In Other segment, sales decreased resulting from a sale of a subsidiary at the beginning of this fiscal year, although sales of vending machines and electronic equipped machinery increased. As a result, total domestic sales were ¥419.5 billion, a 4.5% increase from the corresponding period in the prior year.

In overseas market, sales in Internal Combustion Engine and Machinery increased sharply from the corresponding period in the prior year. The sales of tractors in the North American market maintained steady growth and sales in Europe rose due to an introduction of new models. Sales of tractors in Asia, notably in Thailand, expanded sharply. Sales of construction machinery increased considerably due to growing worldwide demand as well as increasing market-share. Sales of engines also grew largely in North America and Europe. Sales in Pipes, Valves, and Industrial Castings also increased due to an increase in sales of ductile iron pipes and industrial castings. As a result, total overseas sales were ¥321.0 billion, a 22.4% increase from the corresponding period in the prior year.

Operating income was ¥89.6 billion, a 24.8% increase from the prior corresponding period. Although higher prices of raw materials negatively impacted operating income, the Company achieved increased operating income due to increased sales primarily from the Internal Combustion Engine and Machinery segment, a reduction of costs for the public works related business and a decrease in pension costs.

Income before income taxes, minority interests in earnings of subsidiaries, and equity in net income of affiliated companies was ¥113.4 billion, a 44.1% increase from the corresponding period in the prior year due to an increase in operating income and other income. Other income increased due to the gain on nonmonetary exchange of securities of UFJ Holding Inc. (¥15.9 billion), which was related to merger of Mitsubishi Tokyo Financial Group, Inc. and UFJ Holding Inc.

Net income was ¥65.3 billion, a 4.8% decrease from the corresponding period in the prior year. The primary reason for the decrease of net income was a much less amount of income tax of the corresponding period in the prior year, which was resulted from the deductibility of the historical impairment losses and net operating losses related to the sales and dissolution of the subsidiaries.

Edgar Filing: KUBOTA CORP - Form 6-K

As for the matter related to the health hazard of asbestos, the Company had paid consolation payments to the patients and the family members of the deceased near the former Kanzaki plant, who are suffering from or died of mesothelioma based on the policy in Notice on the Company's action for the health hazard of asbestos, which was released on June 30, 2005. Moreover, in Notice on the Company's actions for the health hazard of asbestos near the former Kanzaki plant released on December 26, 2005, the Company expressed that the Company intended to consider further actions in place of the current consolation payment system. The Company has not recorded any accrual of loss contingencies related to this matter so far because it is difficult for the Company to reasonably estimate the amount of the expenses related to this matter at this time.

(Comparison with the end of the corresponding period in the prior year)

Total assets at the end of December 2005 amounted to ¥1,355.0 billion, an increase of ¥138.0 billion (11.3%) from the end of the corresponding period in the prior year. As for assets, favorable sales brought an increase in current assets such as trade account receivables and short-term finance receivables. Additionally, investments and long-term finance receivables increased largely because of an increase in market value of securities. Property, plant and equipment also increased. However other assets decreased mainly due to a decrease in long-term deferred tax assets resulted from the transfer of the substitutional portion of the benefit obligation and related plan assets to the Japanese government. Total Liabilities decreased because the long-term liabilities decreased substantially while current liabilities increased. As for current liabilities, current portion of long-term debt decreased owing to redemption of bonds while trade account payable increased. As for long-term liabilities, long-term deferred tax liabilities increased because of an increase in market value of securities. Long-term debt also increased. On the other hand, accrued retirement and pension costs decreased due to the transfer of the substitutional portion of the benefit obligation and related plan assets to the Japanese government. Shareholders' equity substantially increased due to partial conversion from convertible bonds to common stock, recorded net income and an increase in accumulated other comprehensive income mainly resulted from an increase of unrealized gains on securities.

(Comparison with the prior year end)

Total assets increased ¥161.9 billion (13.6%) compared with those at the end of March 2005. As for assets, favorable sales brought an increase in current assets, investments and long-term finance receivables while other assets decreased. As for liabilities, total liabilities increased in spite of a decrease in current liabilities because long-term liabilities increased due to an increase of long-term deferred tax liabilities. Total balance of interest-bearing debt was ¥318.7 billion, an increase of ¥14.5 billion from the prior year end resulted from expansion of financing, which is related to an increase in short and long-term finance receivables. Interest-bearing debt excluding the debt related to sales financing programs was ¥114.4 billion, a decrease of ¥43.8 billion from the prior year end. Shareholders' equity substantially increased due to recorded net income and an increase in accumulated other comprehensive income mainly resulted from an increase of unrealized gains on securities. Shareholders' equity ratio was 43.2%, 2.9 percentage points higher than that ratio at the prior year end.

< Cautionary Statements with Respect to Forward-Looking Statements >

This document may contain forward-looking statements that are based on management's expectations, estimates, projections and assumptions. These statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve certain risks and uncertainties, which are difficult to predict. Therefore, actual future results may differ materially from what is forecast in forward-looking statements due to a variety of factors, including, without limitation: general economic conditions in the Company's markets, particularly government agricultural policies, levels of capital expenditures, both in public and private sectors, foreign currency exchange rates, continued competitive pricing pressures in the marketplace, as well as the Company's ability to continue to gain acceptance of its products.
