Corvex and Related Comment on Baltimore Court Procedural Ruling

NEW YORK, May 9, 2013 Corvex Management, LP (Corvex) and Related Fund Management, LLC (Related), whose separately managed investment funds collectively own approximately 9.2% of the outstanding common shares of Commonwealth REIT (NYSE:CWH), today issued the following statement regarding the procedural ruling issued yesterday by the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, Maryland, directing that the claims that Corvex and Related have brought against Commonwealth be heard by an arbitration panel:

While we are disappointed with the Baltimore Court's decision, we are pleased that a sophisticated arbitration panel has already been formed to address our claims. The panel is comprised of experienced business lawyers, including a former Chancellor of the Delaware Court of Chancery. We and our lawyers remain highly confident that we will prevail on the substantive merits relating to our consent solicitation, including the invalidity of Commonwealth's various bylaw amendments that are intended to restrict shareholders' ability to act by written consent.

We expect the arbitration panel to commence substantive proceedings shortly and anticipate a prompt resolution on all matters related to our efforts to effect change at Commonwealth. As Commonwealth itself noted, the arbitration process provides for an expedited process for resolving disputes.

We are continuing our consent solicitation. Make no mistake the Baltimore Court's ruling does not impact any substantive issues and does not address our consent solicitation. We encourage all shareholders to promptly sign and return the WHITE consent card to effect the removal of the entire Commonwealth board. Shareholders may also be able to vote online by following the instructions on their voting materials. Once we receive the requisite two-thirds vote to remove the board, we will immediately deliver the vote to the Company. Although certain determinations of the arbitration panel may follow delivery of the consents, we believe the removal of the board will be effective immediately as of the time that our consents are delivered. We look forward to prompt resolution of the arbitration process.
