NXP Comments on Standard & Poor's Long-term Credit Rating Upgrade

Eindhoven, Netherlands, August 5, 2013 NXP Semiconductors N.V. (NASDAQ: NXPI) today announced that Standard & Poor's Ratings Services upgraded its long-term corporate rating for NXP B.V. to BB- (outlook positive) from B+ (stable). In its Research Update Standard & Poor's states that NXP B.V. reported better than expected results in the first half year of 2013 and reduced its debt through free cash flow generation. At the same time, Standard & Poor's raised all issue ratings by one notch in line with the one-notch rise in the corporate credit rating. The recovery ratings remain unchanged.

Standard & Poor's upgrade today is a clear validation of our execution to improve our capital structure and strengthen our balance sheet, while we simultaneously refocused the business for long-term growth," said Peter Kelly, chief financial officer NXP Semiconductors. Standard & Poor's upgrade is recognition of NXP's improved free cash flow, operational performance and strong earnings momentum. We continue to be focused on reducing our financial leverage as we continue to invest in our business to achieve industry leading revenue growth.

Forward-looking Statements

This document includes forward-looking statements which include statements regarding NXP's business strategy, financial condition, results of operations, and market data, as well as any other statements which are not historical facts. By their nature, forward-looking statements are subject to numerous factors, risks and uncertainties that could cause actual outcomes and results to be materially different from those projected. These factors, risks and uncertainties include the following: market demand and semiconductor industry conditions; the ability to successfully introduce new technologies and products; the end-market demand for the goods into which NXP's products are incorporated; the ability to generate sufficient cash, raise sufficient capital or refinance corporate debt at or before maturity; the ability to meet the combination of corporate debt service, research and development and capital investment requirements; the ability to accurately estimate demand and match manufacturing production capacity accordingly or obtain supplies from third-party producers; the access to production capacity from third-party outsourcing partners; any events that might affect third-party business partners or NXP's relationship with them; the ability to secure adequate and timely supply of equipment and materials from suppliers; the ability to avoid operational problems and product defects and, if such issues were to arise, to correct them quickly; the ability to form strategic partnerships and joint ventures and to successfully cooperate with alliance partners; the ability to win competitive bid selection processes to develop products for use in customers' equipment and products; the ability to successfully establish a brand identity; the ability to successfully hire and retain key management and senior product architects; and, the ability to maintain good relationships with our suppliers. In addition, this document contains information concerning the semiconductor industry and NXP's business segments generally, which is forward-looking in nature and is based on a variety of assumptions regarding the ways in which the semiconductor industry, NXP's market segments and product areas may develop. NXP has based these assumptions on information currently available, if any one or more of these assumptions turn out to be incorrect, actual market results may differ from those predicted. While NXP does not know what impact any such differences may have on its business, if there are such differences, its future results of operations and its financial condition could be materially adversely affected. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak to results only as of the date the statements were made. Except for any ongoing obligation to disclose material information as required by the United States federal securities laws, NXP does not have any intention or obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements after we distribute this document, whether to reflect any future events or circumstances or otherwise. For a discussion of potential risks and uncertainties, please refer to the risk factors listed in our SEC filings.
