Item 2.02. Results of Operations and Financial Condition

On August 7, 2013, Mistras Group, Inc. (the Company, we or us) issued a press release announcing its financial results for fiscal year 2013, which ended May 31, 2013, and the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2013. A copy of the press release is attached as Exhibit 99.1 to this report.

Disclosure of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In the press release attached, the Company uses the terms Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted Diluted Earnings Per Share, which are not measurements of financial performance under U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). The press release includes tables reconciling these non-GAAP measurements to the most comparable GAAP measurements.

Adjusted EBITDA

Adjusted EBITDA is defined as net income plus: interest expense, provision for income taxes, depreciation and amortization, share-based compensation expense, certain acquisition-related costs (including transaction due diligence costs and adjustments to the fair value of contingent consideration) and certain non-recurring items (which items are listed in the reconciliation table in the press release).

Our management uses Adjusted EBITDA as a measure of operating performance to assist in comparing performance from period to period on a consistent basis, as a measure for planning and forecasting overall expectations and for evaluating actual results against such expectations. Adjusted EBITDA is also a performance evaluation metric used to determine incentive compensation for executives and employees.

We believe investors and other users of our financial statements benefit from the presentation of Adjusted EBITDA in evaluating our operating performance because it provides an additional tool to compare our operating performance on a consistent basis and measure underlying trends and results of our business. Adjusted EBITDA removes the impact of certain items that management believes do not directly reflect our core operations. For instance, Adjusted EBITDA generally excludes interest expense, taxes and depreciation and amortization, each of which can vary substantially from company to company depending upon accounting methods, the book value and age of assets, capital structure, capital investment cycles and the method by which assets were acquired. It also eliminates share-based compensation, which is a non-cash expense and is excluded by management when evaluating the underlying performance of our business operations.

While Adjusted EBITDA is a term and financial measurement commonly used by investors and securities analysts, it has limitations. As a non-GAAP measurement, Adjusted EBITDA has no standard meaning and, therefore, may not be comparable with similar measurements for other companies. Adjusted EBITDA is generally limited as an analytical tool because it excludes charges and expenses we do incur as part of our operations. For example, Adjusted EBITDA excludes income taxes, but we generally incur significant U.S. federal, state and foreign income taxes each year and the provision for income taxes is a necessary cost. Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for analyzing our results as reported in accordance with GAAP.

Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted Diluted Earnings Per Share

We use the non-GAAP measurements of Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted Diluted Earnings Per Share, which refer to GAAP net income attributable to Mistras Group, Inc. and GAAP diluted earnings per common share, respectively, excluding the items identified in the reconciliation schedule included in the press release. These non-GAAP measurements should be considered in addition to, and not as a replacement for or superior to, the comparable GAAP measurements.

Management believes that these measurements provide useful information to investors by reflecting additional ways of viewing aspects of the Company's operations that, when reconciled to the corresponding GAAP measurements, help our investors to better understand the long-term profitability trends of our business, and facilitate easier comparisons of our profitability to prior and future periods and to our peers. The items that have been excluded from the GAAP measurements have been removed because items of this nature and/or size occur with inconsistent frequency, occur for reasons that may be unrelated to our commercial performance during the period, are of a non-cash nature and/or we believe are not indicative of our ongoing operating costs or profits in a given period, which we believe may obscure underlying business trends and make comparisons of long-term performance difficult.

The Company estimates the tax effect of the items identified in the reconciliation schedule by applying the Company's estimated effective tax rate for each respective period to the pre-tax amount, where applicable.

These measurements have limitations because the adjustments to the GAAP measurements are subject to management's discretion, there are no standards for determine which adjustments should be made, and may not be comparable with similar measurements for other companies. Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted Diluted Earnings Per Share are not used to determine incentive compensation for executives or employees.
