CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

OBJECTIVES

Jardine Fleming China Region Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") seeks to achieve long-term capital appreciation through investments primarily in equity securities of companies with substantial assets in, or revenues derived from, the People's Republic of China (PRC or China), Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Macau--collectively, the China Region.

The Fund provides investors with an opportunity to participate in the growing economies of the China Region, especially that of the PRC, although investments are expected to be predominantly in securities listed on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong. Hong Kong enterprises have made substantial investments in the PRC, in Guangdong Province in particular, where abundant cheap labor and land are available. Hong Kong is also the largest trading partner of the PRC.

The economies of the PRC, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and Macau have become increasingly linked over the past 10 years and are expected to become further integrated now that Hong Kong and Macau have reverted to Chinese sovereignty. Investments made by the Fund will seek to take advantage of opportunities resulting from this linkage among the China Region markets.

MANAGEMENT

JF International Management Inc. ("JFIM") (formerly Jardine Fleming International Management Inc.) is the investment management company appointed to advise and manage the Fund's portfolio. With the completion of the merger between Robert Fleming Holdings Ltd. and The Chase Manhattan Corporation ("Chase") in October 2000, and the subsequent merger between Chase and J.P. Morgan & Co. Incorporated in January 2001, JFIM became part of J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. ("JPMC"), one of the world's premier financial services institutions. In asset management, JPMC will operate globally under the name of JPMorgan Fleming Asset Management ("JPMFAM"), although in Asia it will use the sub-brand JF Asset Management. Funds under management for the global asset management business was US $604.7 billion as of December 31, 2001. The investment philosophy of JPMFAM is to maintain two distinct and separate investment processes for their equity products.

Chung Man Wing is the portfolio manager of the Fund. Mr. Chung joined JFIM in late 2000 as head of the Greater China team. Previously, he was chief investment officer at HSBC Asset Management (Asia).

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Dear Fellow Shareholders,

Fiscal year 2001 proved a difficult year for global equity markets in light of the US-led slowdown in global economic growth, and the China region was no exception. After some stellar performance during first half 2001, Chinese shares lost steam around mid-year as the market became increasingly concerned about policy risks, the supply overhang of state-owned shares, and growing competition in the Mainland telecom industry. As such, the MSCI China Index was down 24.7% over the year. In Hong Kong, deflation and economic hardship dampened investor appetite for shares and resulted in a 18.6% drop in the MSCI Hong Kong Index. By contrast, after suffering during the first nine months of the year, the Taiwanese market rallied strongly in the 4Q 2001 on improving prospects for the electronics sector. The MSCI Taiwan Index finished the year up 10.5%.

During this volatile period, the Fund underperformed the MSCI Golden Dragon Index, the Fund's benchmark, by 2% in NAV terms, and declined in absolute terms by 12.8%. The Fund's share price performed relatively better, falling by only 7.0% during the year.

Going forward, China is expected to continue to be the growth engine for Asia. China's accession into the WTO not only paves the way for more foreign investment, but also encourages its thriving private sector, which in turn should drive the next phase of growth. As economic interaction within the Greater China zone strengthens, competitive Taiwanese and Hong Kong companies will benefit from cost cutting and market access. The emergence of well-managed "private chips" in Hong Kong and China and world-class electronics exporters in Taiwan will provide ample investment opportunities to investors.

During the year, the Fund repurchased a total of 150,600 shares in the open market at a per-share weighted average discount to NAV of 20.03%. In addition, pursuant to a tender offer commencing on June 11, 2001, the Fund purchased a total of 1,172,856 shares, representing 20% of the Fund's issued and outstanding shares, at a price equal to 95% of the Fund's NAV per share on the closing date of July 9, 2001. The Board noted that the discount of the Fund has improved since May 2001 to a level as low as 13% and prevailing at a level below 20% for most of the period following announcement of the tender offer. The Board continues to be committed to conducting a partial tender offer or similar transactions if the Fund's shares trade at an average discount to NAV in excess of 20% for any 13-week period, limited to one such transaction in each calendar year.

The Board considers an annual total expense ratio above 2.85% to be unacceptable. The Board recognizes that the reduction in the number of shares, through share repurchases and tender offers, has an adverse impact on the expense ratio of the Fund. The Board believes that it would be in the best interest for shareholders if it adopts a calculation approach to determine this expense ratio that excludes expenses of a non-recurring nature such as those associated with a tender offer and the Fund's entering into a contract with a new administrator, whilst the ordinary operating expenses pertaining to the relevant year will be included. On this basis, the Board estimates the Fund's total expense ratio for 2001 at approximately 2.73%; as compared with the 3.51% presented in our financial statements. If the 2.85% expense ratio calculated on the above basis is exceeded the Board will put forward proposals to shareholders on the structure of the Fund.

Respectfully submitted,

/S/ The Rt. Hon. The Earl of Cromer

INVESTMENT REVIEW

Dear Fellow Shareholders:

2001 was a volatile year for equity investors worldwide. Within the China Region, the MSCI Hong Kong Index fell by 18.6% on the back of stubborn domestic deflation. Mainland Chinese stocks continued to be plagued by policy uncertainty, poor corporate governance and anemic earnings growth. As a result, the MSCI China Index was down 24.7% over the year. In Taiwan, however, despite economic slowdown and low corporate earnings visibility, supportive liquidity conditions and investors' anticipation of a technology sector recovery boosted the MSCI Taiwan Index in the fourth quarter and helped it close the year up 10.5%.

Given these varied performances and high intra-period volatility in the Region's equity markets, the net asset value of the Fund fell 12.8% while the share price dropped 6.9%. This compares with the 10.8% decline in the Jardine Fleming China Region Fund benchmark.

In Hong Kong, the fall in the equity market reflected the difficult economic and corporate environment. Despite multiple interest rate cuts, business appetite stayed low, as there were limited investment opportunities amid a deflationary economic restructuring. Consumer confidence remained fragile given the still deteriorating employment prospect. External trade was affected by the

US economic slowdown and was battered further by the September 11 tragedy. As such, the outlook for GDP and corporate earnings was uncertain and investors were ambivalent towards the traditional blue chip stocks. Nonetheless, the cautious sentiment towards the broad market notwithstanding, selected mid cap stocks with established management and high earnings growth visibility attracted investors interest. In particular, manufacturing and export stocks that were trading at low valuations were perceived to be good proxies for a possible recovery in the US and global economy; hence their share price outperformance.

Initial euphoria and subsequent disappointment characterized the performance of Chinese equities. Having started the year on a low note, the B share markets in Shanghai and Shenzhen were subsequently pushed higher by domestic investors on positive expectations about strong GDP growth, China's entry into the World Trade Organization ("WTO") and Beijing's bid to host the 2008 Olympiad. The unexpected policy relaxation in February, which formally allowed participation in B shares by domestic hard currency holders, fuelled speculation of eventual unification with the domestic A shares and propelled the B shares into uncharted territory in May. This also triggered a spillover effect into the Hong Kong-listed H shares and red chips, which climbed to their year highs at mid-year. However, heavy profit-taking in the B shares occurred in June and the selling pressure escalated as their domestic A share counterparts collapsed on reports about falsified accounts by certain "blue chip" A shares. The government's plan to reduce the state-owned stake in listed companies also weighed on market sentiment, as it would create a large share overhang. Despite China's formal entry into the WTO and Beijing's successful Olympic bid, sentiment worsened further as the large cap telecom stocks suffered from renewed concerns about unfavorable regulatory changes and the potential for a cutthroat tariff war. Although the Chinese shares rebounded somewhat immediately after the September attacks in New York, as they were considered less sensitive to the US recession than other Asian stocks, the rebound proved to be short-lived amid continued worries about corporate governance and policy risks. Although the Shanghai B, Shenzhen B and the Hang Seng China Enterprises Indices managed to close the year up 91.5%, 93.0% and 8.3%, respectively, they were down by between 28% and 39% from their peaks at mid-year.

In Taiwan, the equity market experienced a "roller-coaster" ride during the year. Share price performance was lackluster throughout the first half of the year given slowing export growth, worsening domestic demand and continued volatility in the US and global technology stocks. Sentiment plunged immediately after the September 11 attacks as investors were worried about a possible collapse of US business and consumer demand. Given the economy's heavy reliance on exports to the US in general and sale of electronic value-added products in particular, the local Taiwan Weighted Index fell to the year low of 3,446 level in early October. However, the market staged a sharp "V-shaped" recovery during the fourth quarter amid signals of stability in the US economy. More importantly, as US technology companies reported resilient customer demand and provided cautiously optimistic business outlook, foreign investors bought heavily the electronics stocks in Taiwan as they were perceived to be the prime beneficiaries of a US technology sector recovery while having had been oversold. This influx of overseas portfolio flows, coupled with supportive domestic liquidity, boosted the overall Taiwanese market and in particular the electronics stocks. Both the local market and the electronics sector ended the year in positive territory, up 10.6% and 25.6%, respectively.

OUTLOOK

In Hong Kong, the overall economic and corporate environment will continue to be difficult in the short to medium term. As the economy restructures and reinvents itself in order to regain competitiveness, deflationary pressure continues to be severe. While China's continued development and entry into the WTO present tremendous investment opportunities for the long run, the corporate sector in Hong Kong will have to adapt and adjust to the new, immediate challenges, especially on the cost front. Therefore we expect unemployment to stay high at the current 6% level for a while longer and this may continue to weigh on consumer demand. While the local property market appears to have stabilized over the past few months and we notice an increase in primary sales volume, there is only limited room for price appreciation given the large supply of flats, continued price deflation and the bottoming of the interest rate cycle. From a slightly more positive perspective, a US recovery should help external trade while continued public sector spending should help to alleviate some of the deflationary pressure. Overall, most economists expect GDP growth for 2002 to be at a sub-trend, low level of around 2%, having posted virtually zero growth in 2001.

Mainland China will offer tremendous opportunities as well as real challenges. While foreign direct investment, public spending and domestic private consumption can sustain top-line GDP growth at a healthy level of between 6% and 7% this year, compared with 7.3% in 2001, WTO means more foreign competition and corporate restructuring in virtually all sectors, especially among the state-owned enterprises. While this will help the formation of a rule-based economy in the long run, short-term restructuring pains include rising unemployment and a cyclical decline in profits. Within the equity market, while investors should welcome the authorities' recent efforts to crack down on illegal speculation and improve the standard of corporate governance, share price momentum seems to have halted for the short term. Indeed, even after the correction in the second half of 2001, the Chinese shares indices are still richly overvalued given the poor transparency, low return on equity and high policy risk. A disruptive burst of this overvalued bubble may lead to unpleasant consequences. From a positive perspective, however, excess liquidity and low interest rates should underpin the market's downside while successful implementation of further market reforms will restore investor's confidence over the longer term.

While domestic economic growth momentum within Taiwan is still sluggish, performance of the equity market hinges upon the fortune of the electronics stocks, which will benefit from a confirmed US economic recovery. While it is probably premature to confirm this, it does appear that US business investment has troughed and consumer confidence there remains resilient, which should bode well for Taiwanese exporters. On the political front, the ruling DPP Party has emerged as the largest party in the Legislative Yuan, albeit short of winning a majority. This should mean a better relationship between the administration and the Legislative Yuan while improving policy implementation. Therefore, barring deterioration in the cross strait relationship, political risk in Taiwan seems to have diminished significantly. As such, selected export-oriented electronics stocks in Taiwan remain attractive long-term investment candidates and will be sought after by investors if and when there are clear signals pointing to a better US economy.

STRATEGY

Given the cyclical and structural challenges within the China Region economies as mentioned, we see limited upside for the traditional blue chip stocks and therefore expect the broad market indices to be range bound. In addition, given the uncertain timing and magnitude of the much expected US recovery, we intend to adopt a neutral country asset allocation approach. On the other hand, we continue to seek to add value from our bottom up, stock selection efforts.

From a stock picking point of view, we believe there are ample investment opportunities. For instance, we have noticed the rapid emergence of the "private chips" in Hong Kong and China. These mostly Hong Kong-listed, privately owned and managed companies derive virtually all of their revenues and profits from China. They distinguish themselves from the H shares and the red chips by way of their more flexible management and operations. As they have not been supported by any state subsidies, but have been subject to and have grown amidst market competition, they represent some of the most efficient enterprises coming out of China. Often they are engaged in high value-added industries and services, where regulatory risk is less, and therefore exhibit high business and profit growth prospects. We have included a selected few of these "private chips" into the portfolio and their share price performance since then has been satisfactory. Admittedly, many of these private companies have only a short track record and recent sentiment was clouded by a single incident about suspiciously high profitability. Nonetheless, we maintain that some of these private companies have solid fundamentals and will eventually emerge as the leaders in their respective businesses, thereby rewarding long-term investors.

Besides this, we have been gradually building positions in mid cap, lowly-valued industrial exporters across the China Region markets. While many of these companies are in the electronics sector, especially those in Taiwan, we are also focusing on consumer stocks, which will benefit from both the US recovery and China's expanding consumer market. While many other investors focus on the large blue chips, we are of the view that many of the under-researched mid-cap stocks will provide better returns when overall economic and corporate environment improves. Therefore, we will continue to expand our primary research coverage to identify these 'blue chips of tomorrow'.

To conclude, against a still unclear external picture and as the China Region economies grapple with their own issues, we will continue to adopt a flexible investment approach in order to add performance. While market volatility will likely continue to be high, we believe that our proactive primary research and stock selection process will enable us to pick the future long-term winners at an early stage. We are optimistic that this strategy will continue to provide good returns to our shareholders.

CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

DECEMBER 31, 2001

1. ORGANIZATION AND CAPITAL

Jardine Fleming China Region Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") was incorporated in the State of Maryland on May 22, 1992, and is registered as a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940. The Fund commenced operations on July 16, 1992.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The following significant accounting policies, which are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America for investment companies, are consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

I) SECURITY VALUATION

All securities for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last sales price prior to the time of determination, or, if no sales price is available at that time, at the mean between the last current bid and asked prices. Securities that are traded over-the-counter are valued, if bid and asked quotations are available, at the mean between the current bid and asked prices. Investments in short-term debt securities having a maturity of 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost. All other securities and assets are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors. In valuing the Fund's assets, quotations of foreign securities in a foreign currency are translated to U.S. dollar equivalents at the exchange rate in effect on the valuation date.

II) U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

No provision for federal income taxes is required since the Fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and distribute all of its taxable income. As of December 31, 2001, the Fund has capital loss carryforwards for federal income tax purposes of $57,645,571, of which $42,188,946 expires in 2006 and $11,676,567 expires in 2007 and $3,780,058 expires in 2009. The Fund intends to retain gains realized in future periods that may be offset by available capital loss carryforward.

During the year ended December 31, 2001, the Fund reclassified $263,754 from accumulated net realized loss on investments to accumulated net investment loss as a result of permanent book and tax differences relating primarily to realized foreign currency losses. The Fund also reclassified $845,828 from accumulated net investment loss to paid-in capital as a result of permanent tax differences relating to the net operating loss for the year ended December 31, 2001. Net investment loss and net assets were not affected by the reclassifications. The Fund's foreign exchange losses incurred after October 31, 2001, but before December 31, 2001, are deemed to arise on the first business day of the following year. The Fund incurred and elected to defer such foreign exchange losses of $4,926.

JARDINE FLEMING
CHINA REGION FUND, INC.

III) FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION

The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars. Foreign currency amounts are translated into U.S. dollars at the mid-market price of such currencies against U.S. dollars as follows:

- o investments, other assets, and liabilities at the prevailing rates of exchange on the valuation date;
- o investment transactions and investment income at the prevailing rates of exchange on the dates of such transactions.

Although the net assets of the Fund are presented at the foreign exchange rates and market values at the close of the period, the Fund does not isolate that portion of the results of operations arising as a result of changes in the foreign exchange rates from the fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of the securities held at period-end. Similarly, the Fund does not isolate the effect of changes in foreign exchange rates from the fluctuations arising from changes in the market prices of securities sold during the period. Accordingly, realized and unrealized foreign currency gains (losses) are included in the reported net realized and unrealized gains (losses) on investments.

Unrealized currency gains (losses) from valuing foreign currency denominated assets and liabilities at period-end exchange rates are reflected as a component of accumulated net unrealized gain (loss) on investments, foreign currency holdings, and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies.

IV) DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME AND GAINS

The Fund intends to distribute to shareholders, at least annually, substantially all of its net investment income and expects to distribute annually any net long-term capital gains in excess of net short-term capital losses. An additional distribution may be made to the extent necessary to avoid the payment of a 4% federal excise tax. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations and may differ from those determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

V) OTHER

Security transactions are accounted for on the date the securities are purchased or sold. Realized gains and losses on the sale of investment securities are determined on the identified cost basis. Interest income is recognized on the accrual basis. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated by dividing the lesser of purchases and sales of investment securities having maturities greater than one year at the time of acquisition by the average monthly market value of those investment securities.

DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AND CASH PURCHASE PLAN

THE FUND OPERATES AN OPTIONAL DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AND CASH PURCHASE PLAN (THE "PLAN") WHEREBY:

Edgar Filing: JARDINE FLEMING CHINA REGION FUND INC - Form N-30D

- a) shareholders may elect to receive dividend and capital gain distributions in the form of additional shares of the Fund (the Share Distribution Plan).
- b) shareholders may make optional payments (any amount between $100 and $3,000) which will be used to purchase additional shares in the open market (the Share Purchase Plan).

FOR A COPY OF THE PLAN BROCHURE, AS WELL AS A DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT AUTHORIZATION CARD, PLEASE CONTACT:

EquiServe
(the Plan Agent):
P. O. Box 8200
Boston, Massachusetts 02266-8200
Telephone No: 800-426-5523 (toll-free)

The following should be noted with respect to the Plan:

If you participate in the Share Distribution Plan, whenever the Board of Directors of the Fund declares an income dividend or net capital gain distribution, you will automatically receive your distribution in newly issued shares (cash will be paid in lieu of fractional shares) if the market price of the shares on the date of the distribution is at or above the net asset value of the shares. The number of shares to be issued to you by the Fund will be determined by dividing the amount of the cash distribution to which you are entitled (net of any applicable withholding taxes) by the greater of the net asset value (NAV) per share on such date or 95% of the market price of a share on such date. If the market price of the shares on such a distribution date is below the NAV, the Plan Agent will, as agent for the participants, buy shares on the open market, on the New York Stock Exchange or elsewhere, for the participant's account on, or after, the payment date. There is no service charge for purchases under this Plan.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes, shareholders receiving newly issued shares pursuant to the Share Distribution Plan will be treated as receiving income or capital gains in an amount equal to the fair market value (determined as of the distribution date) of the shares received and will have a cost basis equal to such fair market value. Shareholders receiving a distribution in the form of shares purchased in the open market pursuant to the Plan will be treated as receiving a distribution of the cash distribution that such shareholder would have received had the shareholder not elected to have such distribution reinvested and will have a cost basis in such shares equal to the amount of the distribution.

There will be no brokerage charge to participants for shares issued directly by the Fund under the Plan. Each participant will pay a pro rata share of brokerage commissions incurred with respect to the Plan Agent's open market purchases of shares in connection with the Plan. The Fund will pay the fees of the Plan Agent for handling the Plan.

You may terminate your account under the Share Distribution Plan by notifying the Plan Agent in writing. The Plan may be terminated by the Plan Agent or the Fund with notice to you at least 30 days prior to any record date for the payment of any distribution by the Fund. Upon any termination, the Plan Agent will deliver a certificate or certificates for the full shares held for you under the Plan and a cash adjustment for any fractional shares.

You also have the option of instructing the Plan Agent to make semiannual cash purchases of shares in the open market. There is a service charge of $1.25 for each purchase under this Share Purchase Plan.
