Advanced Semiconductor Engineering, Inc.

Business Report

The first half of 2016 remained weak as expected, with developed economies possessing inadequate momentum for recovery. As a result growth of emerging markets had slowed significantly. Fortunately the second half of the year showed positive signs and outlook appeared to be more positive. The semiconductor industry attained double-digit growth rate during the third quarter in large part because of consumption of its inventory. It looks set to have finally emerged from doldrums. According to statistics by Gartner¹, sales for the semiconductor industry in 2016 were USD 339.7 billion, a growth of 1.5% over 2015. Gartner also projected global semiconductor sales in 2017 at USD 364.1 billion, a growth of 7.2% over 2016.

According to the report of the IEK ITIS Project, the IC packaging and testing industry in Taiwan produced output of NT$ 463.8 billion in 2016, a growth of about 5.1% from 2015. Output of the packaging industry amounted to NT$ 323.8 billion, a growth of 4.5% from 2015. Output of the testing industry amounted to NT$140.0 billion, a growth of 6.5% compared to 2015. The following is our report on the Company's operation for the past year:

"2016 Operating Results"

1. Implementation of the 2016 business plan

ASE's consolidated revenue for 2016 totaled NT$ 274.9 billion, a decrease of about NT$8.4 billion, or a decline of about 3% from 2015. With respect to the company's semiconductor packaging and testing operations. Consolidated operating revenue for 2016 was NT$173.9 billion (including inter-division revenue of NT$14.4 billion). This was an increase of about NT$11.5 billion over that in 2015 (growth of about 7%). The main reasons for the increase are increasing trend of outsourcing of semiconductor packaging services and improvement in the company's productivity. Furthermore with respect to the Group's OEM services, consolidated revenue for 2016 was NT$163.1 billion (including inter-division revenue of NT$47.7 billion). This was a decline of about NT$33.6 billion, or 17.1%. Nevertheless, gross profit margin for electronics OEM services grew from 7.5% in 2015 to 9.8% in 2016.

2. Budget Implementation

ASE did not release any financial forecast in 2016.

3. Analysis of financial gains and losses and profitability

The company's 2016 consolidated financial statements show that its paid-up capital was NT$79.6 billion, while total owner's equity amounted to NT$157.4 billion, constituting 44% of total assets (NT$357.9 billion); Long-term funds to fixed assets was 169% while current ratio was 136.7%. As such the company's financial ratios for the current year were comparable to those for the previous year. Gross profit margin of the Group at 19.4% was better than that in 2015 (17.7%). Net operating profit was NT$26.7 billion, an increase of NT$1.8 billion in 2015, showing a growth of about 7.2%. Net profit attributed to the company's owner was NT$21.7 billion, an increase of NT$2.5 billion in the previous year, or a growth of about 13%. Earnings before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation, and Amortization (EBITDA) as shown in the consolidated financial statements rose about 4.3% over those in 2015. As such the company's profitability in 2016 was better than that in 2015.

R&D Overview

With the proliferation of PC and mobile devices, system-on-chip has entered a phase of maturity in line with Moore's Law which has been the driving force for efficiency in global micro-electronics and semiconductor industries. As the effect of Internet-of-Things (IoT) becomes ubiquitous in algorithms, the industry chain has been sparing no effort in moving towards higher value systems. This has in turn highlighted the importance of system innovation and integration for heterogeneous chips. As a result strengthening of functional integration and 'micronization' technology are being developed in tandem in order to create smart, networked environment and devices that are more effective, thereby enabling users to enjoy smarter, more convenient lifestyle. Key technological platforms being built by the company on a sustained basis are as follows: Packaging/module of advance systems and packaging of flip-chip bumps/brazing wire and mid- to low-pin counts etc., with key products and technologies successfully developed in 2016 being classified as follows: (1) Flip-chip packaging: Verification of 10nm copper production technology process, flip-chip packaging applications for 14/16nm copper production process/ultra-low dielectric chip, double-side packaging glue protection technology; (2) Wire-bond assembly: Ball-grid array packaging for silver-alloy wires and composite flip-chip, applications for embedded PCB, copper/gold brazing wire for ultra-fine pitch and stubs technology, with verification of applications extended to 20/28nm technology. (3) wafer assembly: Advanced fan-out wafer-level packaging (FOWLP) aWLP-11 (InFO-like structure), introduction of new 2.5 through silicon via (TSV) and stacking products, packaging of micro-mechanical and electrical exposed die and balling, integrated packaging of passive components such as TSV glass base board/stacked brazing wires, fine pitch tin-silver/copper pillar electroplated wafer bumping and 15-micron TSV filling technology. (4) Advanced packaging and module: High-density SiP packaging 4G communication module, compartmental shielding technology, selective sectional packaging and gluing technology and double-sided sectional packaging and gluing technology.

"Overview of 2017 Business Plan"

Operating policy

(1) Providing customers with "best-quality" services; (2) creating long-term and steady profits for the company and customers; (3) working together with partners for a promising future; (4) training employees to become outstanding professionals in their respective fields; (5) treating all employees "fairly and reasonably"; (6) providing employees with a "harmonious, pleasant, and open" workplace; and (7) remaining flexible wherever possible during operation.

Projected sales volume and basis

In the light of current industry dynamics, future market demand and ASE's production capacity, the projected sales volume for 2017 is as follows:

| Item | Projected Sales |
|------|-----------------|
|------|-----------------|

Packaging Approx. 18.5 billion

Testing Approx. 2.3 billion

3. Important production and sales policies

Looking back on 2016, the growth rate for the company's packaging and testing revenue is 3.9%, about 2 times that of the semiconductor industry. The main reasons for such growth are as follows: In addition to increasing trend of outsourcing packaging services and growth in the company's productivity, the company's R&D efforts in flip-chip packaging, wafer bumping and wafers are also important reasons for growth. We believe that they will experience high growth in 2017. At the same time the company will continue to expand into technologies such as FOWLP, copper pillar bps packaging and embedded PCB etc. while also expanding its production capacity for panel-level FOWLP such as to shift advanced packaging technology from wafer-level to panel-level. The trend for low and high efficiency as well as high level of integration is an unchanged principle. We believe that the market will continue to improve in 2017. As such the company will devote greater attention to overall profitability and invest more funds into technology R&D and improvements. Furthermore, system in package (SiP) remains to be a major issue deserving our attention. The company will continue to provide diversified options for SiP products, markets and customers. It is only through sustained R&D and innovation can the company obtains first-mover advantage in a competitive market.

Future Development Strategy

In the long term, the main driving forces for global semiconductor industry are population, lifestyle and new efficiency. Although Taiwan's GDP constitutes only 0.7% of global GDP, it has captured as much as 56.6% of total packaging and testing market and Taiwan's semiconductor industry makes up 22% of the global industry. It is therefore obvious that Taiwan's semiconductor industry has obtained the trust of global partners. The industry has also created new values as well as new business model. The company continues to focus on technological innovation, and increase its investments in R&D and capital expenses. It aims to create sufficient room for profit growth through enhancing innovation and overall economic scale in order for it to continue to grow. The greatest consideration for the company's merger with Siliconware Precision Industries was "innovation". In addition, purposeful division of labor allows each of us to devote our efforts to our specialization, thus improving overall efficiency. The semiconductor industry is a globally-competitive industry. Therefore it is imperative to achieve virtuous cycle for the industry is to consolidate resources to increase efficiency as well as reduce cost before giving back the benefits to customers, while also reducing repetitive investments such that greater resources can be directed to development and innovative R&D, with customers receiving better technology and services as a result.

Impact of Competitive, Regulatory and Operating Environments

For 2017 the majority of research and forecasting institutions hold a cautious outlook. America's political direction after its presidential election will no doubt be a key factor for global economic growth. If the U.S. is able to successfully reinvigorate its domestic demand, other nations will surely also benefit as a result. In the case of China it is expected that its government will continue to implement overall adjustment and control policies. As a result China's economic structure should move towards set targets. However a trend of low growth looks inevitable. Apart from the above, the global economy looks to face uncertainties such as interest rate increase by the U.S., risk of debt default by emerging markets and emergence of trade protectionism etc. Changes in Taiwan's laws and regulations to improvement in labor conditions and emergence of greater awareness for environmental protection have caused the company to spend greater effort in achieving a balance between business performance and an enterprise with no social burden. The coming years appear to remain challenging. Despite this the company will continue to renew itself to keep up with the times.
