Edgar Filing: TEREX CORP - Form 8-K

On September 11, 2002, Terex Corporation ("Terex" or the "Company") announced a new operating structure. The Company now operates primarily in four business segments: (i) Terex Construction, (ii) Terex Cranes, (iii) Terex Mining, and (iv) Terex Roadbuilding and Utility Products and Other. The industry segment information shown in Note O - "Business Segment Information" in the Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements contained in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001, has been reclassified as shown below to reflect results based on the four current business segments.

Terex Construction designs, manufactures and markets loader backhoes, articulated and rigid off-highway trucks, mobile crushing and screening equipment, excavators (including both mini- and midi-excavators), compaction equipment, loading machines, wheeled loaders, rough terrain telescopic boom material handlers, related components and replacement parts, and other products. Currently, Terex Construction products are marketed under the following brand names: Atlas, Benford, B.L. Pegson, CPV, Fermecc, Finlay, Fuchs, Italmacchine, Matbro, Powerscreen, Schaeff, Square Shooter and Terex. These products are used primarily by construction, logging, mining, industrial and government customers in building roads and commercial and residential buildings and supplying coal, minerals, sand and gravel.

Terex Cranes designs, manufactures and markets telescopic mobile cranes (including rough terrain, truck and all-terrain mobile cranes), lattice boom cranes, tower cranes, truck-mounted cranes (boom trucks), related components and replacement parts, and other products. Currently, Terex Cranes products are marketed under the following brand names: American, Bendini, Comedil, Demag, Franna, Koehring, Lorain, Marklift, Peiner, PPM, RO and Terex. These products are used primarily for construction, repair and maintenance of infrastructure, buildings and manufacturing facilities.

Terex Mining designs, manufactures and markets large hydraulic excavators and high capacity surface mining trucks, related components and replacement parts, and other products. Currently, Terex Mining products are marketed under the following brand names: Lectra Haul, O&K, Payhauler, Terex and Unit Rig. These products are primarily used by mining and government customers in supplying coal and minerals.

Terex Roadbuilding and Utility Products and Other designs, manufactures and markets equipment for the roadbuilding, utility and light construction industries. Products include asphalt and concrete plants and pavers, reclaimers, stabilizers and milling machines, crushing and screening equipment, aerial devices, digger derricks, tree trimmers, light towers, generators, related components and replacement parts, and other products. Currently, Terex Roadbuilding and Utility Products and Other products are marketed under the following brand names: Advance, Amida, Bartell, Bid-Well, Canica, Cedarapids, Cifali, CMI, Coleman Engineering, Grayhound, Hi-Ranger, Jaques, Johnson-Ross, Load King, Morrison, Muller, Re-Tech, Royer, Simplicity, Telelect and Terex. These products are used primarily by government, utility and construction customers to build roads, maintain utility lines and trim trees.

On July 19, 2002, the Company announced it had signed an Agreement and Plan of Merger with Genie Holdings, Inc. ("Genie"), a global manufacturer of aerial work platforms. Upon completion of Terex's acquisition of Genie, Genie will comprise a new segment, Terex Aerial Work Platforms.
