RYANAIR ANNOUNCES 3rd DAILY ROUTE FROM KNOCK TO LONDON LUTON

Ryanair, Europe's No. 1 low fares airline, today (Tuesday, 13th September 2005) announced a new daily service from Knock to London Luton that will start on 30th October 2005. This new route will add to existing daily services to London Stansted and London Gatwick and will increase the annual number of Ryanair passengers using Knock airport to 300,000.

Speaking in Knock today, Michael O'Leary, CEO of Ryanair, said:

"We are delighted to announce this new daily route between Knock and London Luton, bringing the total number of Ryanair routes at Knock to 3. Tourism in the region will benefit enormously through expansion of the existing London catchment area by delivering an increase of over 100,000 extra Ryanair passengers at Knock airport that will support over 300 jobs in Mayo.

"Ryanair was the first airline to offer scheduled services to and from Knock airport in 1986. While many others have come and gone Ryanair remains Knock's largest airline and the only one with an unbroken record of serving the airport for almost 20 years. We look forward to continuing to grow Ryanair's presence in Mayo, which has so far delivered over 2M passengers at Knock airport".

Liam Scollan, Managing Director of Knock International Airport said:

"This new route to London Luton represents another important step in our development and firmly establishes Knock International Airport is the key driver of economic growth in the BMW region, something that we are very proud of. We look forward to the success of this route and to further route development in 2006 to capitalize on a record 2005."

Ends.
