Item 8.01. Other Events

In its initial review of the possible consequences of the proposals made by the TPG-Axon group to replace the Board of Directors (the Board) of SandRidge Energy, Inc. (the Company), the Board identified potential significant consequences that could occur under the Company's senior secured revolving credit facility (the Credit Agreement) and under the indentures (the Indentures) governing the Company's senior notes. On February 6, 2013, the Board reviewed the change of control provisions in the Credit Agreement and the Indentures in light of current market conditions and was advised by the Company's financial advisor on the likely financial implications if a change of control occurred, which would constitute an event of default under the Credit Agreement and require the Company to make an offer to repurchase the Company's outstanding senior notes under the Indentures. Based on that review and consultation as well as current market conditions and the market's recognition of the Company's financial strength and liquidity position, and assuming continuation of current market conditions, the Board believes that (i) the holders of the senior notes would be unlikely to accept an offer to repurchase, because the notes are trading at values in excess of the repurchase price specified in the Indentures, and (ii) the Company would be able to obtain the backup financing necessary to finance the repurchase of the notes pursuant to such offer to repurchase. The Board further believes that this type of event of default under the Credit Agreement would not have a material consequence at this time as there are currently no outstanding borrowings under the Credit Agreement. The Board determined to continue monitoring the capital and credit markets for any significant change in the current market conditions affecting its conclusions.
